

Quality with Regard to the Sustainable Development Methodology

Marta Svoljsak Jerman<sup>1</sup>, Alenka Ott Saponia<sup>1</sup>, Marko Rozman<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Petrol d.d., Ljubljana, Dunajska 50, 1000 Ljubljana

As an energy company we perform our core business with the highest degree of responsibility; not only to our business partners, employees, customers and the social environment, but also to the natural environment. The drive of our development is the integral energy supply. We know that the importance of energy is globally and locally increasing, since it is one of the key factors of business competitiveness, modern life-style, and also sustainable natural balance. The Petrol Group has developed a wide range of products and comprehensive business models, which has made us to be a partner of local communities and cities in paving their way to sustainability. The Petrol Group has developed a wide range of products and comprehensive business models, which has made us to be a partner of local communities and cities in paving their way to sustainability. We consider social responsibility as a sustainable commitment to cooperate with the environment where we operate. We know that our support to the immediate social environment significantly affects our business performance and development. Petrol is strongly committed to its quality assurance, policy for occupational safety, and environmental protection. In this framework, the company targets the implementation of management systems in particular, and for years has taken measures to achieve certification standards and continually improve the health and safety of workers, product quality and impact on the environment.