

Informatization and Quality Management

Wang Guohua

Nuclear Power Institute of China, No.328, 1st Section, Chang Shun Avenue, Shuangliu, Chengdu, China

This article is mainly about the importance and approach of the informatization of Quality management. it provides a few reference that how to effect the Quality Management efficiently and how to set up a system based on informatization and things should be noticed. All the things can make corporations appreciate the importance of the informatization and set up a efficient system of informatization of Quality management. It can also help corporations to heighten their management levels ,so that they can always win in the fierce competition.